Why use web content management systems (CMS)?

A web content management system is content management system (CMS) software implemented as a web application used for creating and managing HTML content. It is used to manage and control a large, dynamic collection of web material (HTML documents and their associated images).

A Content Management System (CMS) differs from website builders like Microsoft FrontPage or Macromedia Dreamweaver. A CMS allows non-technical users to make changes to an existing website with little or no training. Web CMS typically require an experienced coder to set-up and add features, but it is primarily a website maintenance tool for non-technical administrators.

If you've read anything at all about Content Management Systems (CMS), you'll probably know at least three things: CMS are the most exciting way to do business, CMS can be really, complicated and lastly Portals are absolutely, outrageously, often unaffordably expensive.

However, Joomla! is set to change all that ... Joomla! is different from the normal models for portal software. For a start, it's not complicated. Joomla! has been developed for the masses. If you required a Joomla CMS developer for project work, contact us!
